Several New York-based companies have been named some of the best in the country, according to a newly released report by Newsweek.

The news magazine, along with research, data and analytics firm Plant-A Insights Group, highlighted 650 U.S. companies based on an analysis of company reviews and information filed by the companies with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. All companies on the list were required to be listed on a U.S. exchange, have its main office in the U.S. and report over $75 million in revenue in 2024.

"These companies exemplify what it means to lead with resilience and forward-thinking vision — setting the standard for excellence in American business today and into the future," Newsweek Editor-In-Chief Jennifer H. Cunningham said.

Here's which New York companies made the list.
